Hospital Corpsman

August 2014 - Current (11 years, 8 months)

United States Navy

As a Hospital Corpsman in the United States Navy, I provided crucial medical support in various settings, from naval vessels to onshore medical facilities. My responsibilities included delivering emergency medical care, conducting patient assessments, administering medications, and assisting medical professionals in surgeries and procedures. I maintained medical records, ensured the readiness of medical equipment, and collaborated closely with multidisciplinary teams to ensure the health and well-being of service members. My role required quick thinking, adaptability, and a strong commitment to providing high-quality healthcare in diverse and often challenging environments.
